Letter from Tripp and David

As we gather with loved ones this Thanksgiving season, we are reminded of how much we have to be grateful for. At the very top of that list are our clients, many of whom we've had the privilege of serving for years. Your trust in us and the relationships we've built together are the foundation of everything we do. We are equally thankful for our professional partners who continue to refer us throughout the year, helping us extend our reach and serve more families with care and dedication.

This season of gratitude is also a time of giving, and we would be honored to help any friends, family members, or colleagues of yours who may have questions about their financial future. If someone you know could benefit from a conversation, please don't hesitate to connect us. From all of us here, we wish you and your loved ones a warm and joyful Thanksgiving.

Giving Thanks, Sharing Traditions

Tripp: Every Thanksgiving morning, I still get up early to watch the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. It brings back wonderful memories, especially the year I was lucky enough to attend in person. It's a tradition that never loses its magic.

Susan: Thanksgiving morning always starts early for me in the kitchen. I love getting up to begin preparing the food for the day. It's a tradition that sets the tone for family, laughter, and all the delicious moments to come.

Vidya: My favorite part of Thanksgiving is the crispy fried turkey with a side of classic stuffing. It's the perfect Holiday duo!

Sam: I love spending Thanksgiving day outdoors, whether it's running the gobble jog or hiking Kennesaw Mountain. At night, nothing beats gathering with friends and family in our old neighborhood to celebrate together.

David: Every Thanksgiving my family heads out to my aunt's farm for a big dinner with all of our extended family. And of course, watching football together is a tradition we never miss.

Honoring Loved Ones: 2nd Year Sponsorship of the Alzheimer's Walk

This fall marked our company's second year sponsoring the Alzheimer's Walk, an event that holds deep meaning for us as so many of our families and friends have been touched by this disease. Gathering at Piedmont Park, we walked together in support of research, awareness, and hope for a future without Alzheimer's. The morning was filled with connection and purpose, and afterwards we enjoyed breakfast as a team. We celebrated not only the cause but also the strength of our community. We are proud to stand alongside others in this important effort and look forward to continuing our support in the years ahead.
